THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

ANALYSIS

O, what is love? A dream conspires To hide reality; I see you as my heart desires, And love the you I see!

If to my mood I fashion you, The fault is mine alone; You are a stranger to my view When once the truth is known

It is not you, then, whom I love, But some fantastic shape Whose verity you cannot prove Nor from its claims escape.

The you I love is nobler far Than man could ever be, Endowed with splendor as a star, With flower at the sea!

Were I to thrust the dream aside From word and from caress, Some need in me would be denied And I must love you less!

One of life's perennial disappoint-nents lies in the fact that an auto-nobile you paint looks exactly like in automobile you have painted.
